The ORTHIA Coccyx Cushion minimizes the body pressure on the supporting surface, promoting decompression of the sacrococcygeal and genital areas.

Its configuration, with pressure relief points strategically positioned, associated with the viscoelastic foam, allows the Coccyx Cushion to perfectly adapt to the user's anatomy, distributing the weight uniformly, reducing the maceration effect and helping prevent the appearance of scabs.

The "U" shape curve, allows the decompression and ventilation of the anorectal and perianal areas. Providing greater relief and comfort, it is indicated for people with haemorrhoidal conditions, subject to pelvic and anorectal surgeries, or for those who remain seated for long periods of time.
